"My Wing Marks " - 12th Personal Exhibit

Dubai

Having spent her hours in the infinite depths of the Internet for the past 6 years, Tumay Gunes Tartar enriches the visuals of all her glass-ceramic wall panel works with illustrative illusion effects, which she has designed, produced, and applied to living spaces for 20 years. She turns these designs that she has brought into existence on digital platforms into "Digital Surfaces," with her own words, by transferring them to "mixed media" textures in which she uses various materials. When the production process is analyzed, the effects of all her works she has produced thus far can be clearly seen. It can also be seen that the artist has used tactile and perceivable three-dimensional materials, breaking the inaccessability of digitalism in her recent productions. With the sharp transformation of this "Transferring My Ceramics in Living Spaces to Digital Surfaces," she questions the concepts of civil liberties in the surfaces she has designed, creating figures that touch upon the social scars reflected in some of her works. The symmetry that all living creatures in the universe sustain reveals conscious meanings, transferring the recurring motions to all figures and forms.

Biography:

Tumay Gunes TARTAR graduated from Eskisehir Anadolu University, Faculty of Fine Arts, Ceramic Division in 1995.

She has been working in her atelier with glass melting relief ceramic technique for 15 years. Her works are installed on indoor and outdoor walls, either fixed or moveable.

She prefers complex patterns in her ceramic works of art. She fires her works in a kiln heated up to 1200 centigrade Celsius. Her favorite material of production is the fire clay. For the purpose of originality she also adds self-melting, colored glass granules into the clay.

She is producing wall and floor ceramic tiles for various buildings. Besides, she makes relief ceramic panels for the walls of hotels, shopping malls, villas and offices.

She organized 11 personal exhibitions.

She enriched her artistic commitment by studying "Pate de Verre" technique, introduced to the world by the French in 19th century.

Tumay Gunes entered the world of textile 3 years ago. She uses designs and patterns of her ceramic works now in textile products and she calls her efforts as "transferring my ceramics on living places to living bodies". Her textile products are marketed with the brand name "TumayGunes".

T-shirts she designed are now on sale in Designer Corners of Boyner stores. She also has been making t-shirts and beach cloth designs for Polo Garage for two years with the brand name "Polo Garage by Tumay Gunes" and they are sold in stores both in Turkey and abroad.

The first person who discovered her T-shirts and shirts is Mustafa Sandal, the well-known Turkish pop music star. She met with his mother, Tulin Ileri, in a trade show in 1996. Tulin Ileri had special ceramic works of her installed in the pool and in some of the rooms of his son's villa in Istanbul. Mustafa Sandal has been wearing "serigraph printed" shirts designed and manufactured with ecological fabrics by Gunes for the last two years.

Paris Hilton is another celebrity who wears her special design T-shirts. Hilton came to Turkey in March 2008 for a beauty contest organized by a TV network and was introduced with the work of her by Mustafa Sandal. She designed and manufactured two sugar-pink colored T-shirts by using serigraph print technique. She printed her initials, P and H, on the T-shirts and added little shiny spangles to create a heightened sense of decoration. Hilton wore one of the T-shirts in Istanbul and on her flight to Germany and also during her stay there.

Press Release:

The Turk Who Dresses Up Mustafa Sandal and Paris Hilton

Tumay Gunes, who designed special T-shirts for Paris Hilton, is known not only by her textile products, but also with her wall tiles. Her new goal is to introduce her designs to a wider audience.

The textile designer and ceramic artist Tumay Gunes, who designed t-shirts and shirts for celebrities like Mustafa Sandal and Paris Hilton, sets off to create her own brand. T-shirts she designed are now on sale in Designer Corners of Boyner stores. She also has been making t-shirts and beach cloth designs for Polo Garage for two years with the brand name "Polo Garage by Tumay Gunes" and they are sold in stores both in Turkey and abroad.

The first person who discovered Tumay Gunes's T-shirts and shirts is Mustafa Sandal, the well-known Turkish pop music star. Gunes met with his mother, Tulin Ileri, in a trade show in 1996. Tulin Ileri had special ceramic works of Gunes installed in the pool and in some of the rooms of his son's villa in Istanbul. Mustafa Sandal has been wearing "serigraph printed" shirts designed and manufactured with ecological fabrics by Gunes for the last two years.

Paris Hilton is another celebrity who wears her special design T-shirts. Hilton came to Turkey in March 2008 for a beauty contest organized by a TV network and was introduced with the work of Gunes by Mustafa Sandal. Gunes designed and manufactured two sugar-pink colored T-shirts by using serigraph print technique. She printed her initials, P and H, on the T-shirts and added little shiny spangles to create a heightened sense of decoration. Hilton wore one of the T-shirts in Istanbul and on her flight to Germany and also during her stay there.

"My Designs Bring Luck to Wearers"

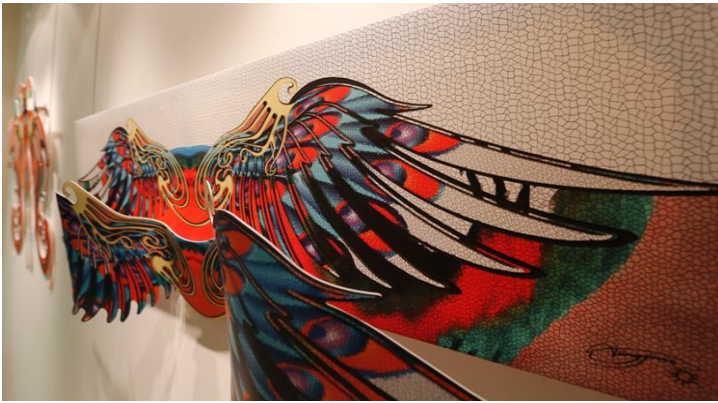

Tumay Gunes, who started designing career by ceramic works, organized ten exhibitions. She uses fire clay and for uniqueness she adds colorful glass granules which melt with the heat. Her designs are totally spontaneous. She says, "I listen to my inner voice and work on the wet clay as it directs and inspires me." She also says, "When the designing finishes and I take one step back from the work, I see that it has an Art Nouveau style. There is a personal, intimate touch in my art. Those who are familiar to my work, when they come across a work of mine, can easily say 'This is a product of Tumay Gunes'. I've been working for sixteen years on wall tiles and patterns. I thought it was the time to set sail to new horizons and transferred my patterns from wall tiles to clothes. I do Haute Couture. I've got more than two thousand tile designs, all registered. In my t-shirt designs I use them to create endless possibilities. I love most to work with artists. Because they know the exact meaning of artistic creation and freedom and let me work freely. This gives me much more satisfaction from the work I do. Not only artists, but also everyone who is meticulous on what he or she wears request special works from me. I also believe that my clothes bring luck to their wearer. My next goal is to reach to a wider audience with my own brand."

Tümay GüneşTartar is working on glass shaping with mold and glass melting relief ceramic techniques in her atelier in Istanbul. She is also creating computer aided surface designs for printed materials. Tartar's goal for the near future is to access to the global audience by expanding her ceramic-glass and textile collection with the brand name "Tümay Güneş".
